The Voyage and the Storm

Tami Oldham Ashcraft, a 23-year-old American sailor, set out on a voyage from Tahiti to San Diego with her fiancé, Richard Sharp, a 24-year-old Englishman. They embarked on their journey with high spirits and dreams of a new life in California. However, their adventure took a dramatic turn when they encountered Hurricane Raymond, a powerful Category 4 storm. As the storm raged around them, their 44-foot yacht, the Hazana, was struck by a massive wave, capsizing them and leaving them stranded and adrift.

Lost and Adrift

In the aftermath of the storm, Tami and Richard found themselves alone and adrift in the vast expanse of the Pacific Ocean. She knew that they had to find a way to survive and find rescue.

Survival Instincts

They utilized the wreckage of their boat as shelter, rigged a makeshift sail to catch the wind, and navigated by the stars. She became a skilled fisher, learned to repair the boat, and even used her sewing skills to create a makeshift water filter.
