Harley Merlin Harley Merlin And The Mystery Twins is a children's book written by Dean Lorey and illustrated by Melissa Crowton. The book tells the story of Harley Merlin, a young boy who learns that he is the son of the legendary wizard Merlin. Harley must use his newfound powers to defeat the evil sorcerer Mordred and save the world.

Plot

Harley Merlin is a 12-year-old boy who lives with his aunt and uncle in the small town of Willow Creek. Harley is a curious and adventurous boy, but he is also lonely. He has no friends and he doesn't feel like he fits in. One day, Harley is exploring the woods behind his house when he comes across a strange old man. The old man tells Harley that he is his father, the wizard Merlin. Merlin has been watching over Harley all his life, but he has never been able to contact him until now. Merlin tells Harley that he is the son of a prophecy, and that he is destined to defeat the evil sorcerer Mordred and save the world.

Harley is shocked and confused by this news. He doesn't know anything about magic, and he doesn't believe that he is the son of a wizard. But Merlin assures him that he is telling the truth, and that he will help Harley to learn how to use his powers.

Harley agrees to go with Merlin to his castle, where he will begin his training. At the castle, Harley meets two other young wizards, a brother and sister named Alex and Sophie. Alex and Sophie are also the children of prophecy, and they are destined to help Harley defeat Mordred. Together, the three young wizards must learn to work together and use their powers to save the world.
