Addi was first diagnosed with cancer in 2016, when she was just 4 years old. She was diagnosed with anaplastic large cell lymphoma, a rare and aggressive form of cancer that affects the lymph nodes. Addi underwent several rounds of chemotherapy and radiation, and she eventually went into remission.

However, in 2018, Addi's cancer came back. She was given a stem cell transplant, and she is now back in remission. Addi's family has been by her side throughout her entire journey, and they have never given up hope.

The community of Pleasantville has also been incredibly supportive of Addi and her family. In 2017, the community came together to host a softball tournament in Addi's honor. The tournament was a huge success, and it raised over $20,000 for Addi's medical expenses and cancer research.

The softball tournament has become an annual event, and it has grown each year. In 2019, the tournament raised over $50,000. The money raised from the tournament has helped to pay for Addi's medical expenses, and it has also helped to support cancer research.

Addi's story is a story of strength, determination, and community. She has faced cancer with courage and grace, and she has inspired her community to come together and support her. The softball tournament is a testament to the power of community and the importance of giving back.

Addi's Legacy

Addi Bella Forrest is a true inspiration to everyone who knows her. She is a reminder that even in the face of adversity, there is always hope. Addi's story has touched the hearts of people all over the world, and she has shown us that anything is possible with a little bit of love and support.

Addi's legacy will live on long after she is gone. The softball tournament that was started in her honor will continue to raise money for cancer research and support other families who are facing cancer.

Addi Bella Forrest is a true hero. She is an example of the strength and resilience of the human spirit. She is an inspiration to us all.

How You Can Help
